COMMUNITY-UNIVERSITY COLLABORATIONS IN RESEARCH SERIES

Explorations in Mental Health: Research Perspectives

Join us for an interactive conversation centered on mental health concerns experienced by Buffalo and the Western New York community.

The workshop features a diverse and a community-friendly panel designed to engage the audience in discussion on perceived barriers to participating in research and the health disparities impacting them.

Attendees will gain knowledge in how community engagement and inclusive research is crucial to developing new research approaches, treatments and interventions to improve mental health. They will also be more informed of ways to participate in these research opportunities.

Light refreshments will be provided. Walk-ins are welcome.
