

From the Business First:

<http://www.bizjournals.com/buffalo/print-edition/2011/02/18/research-is-hallmark-of-life-sciences.html>

Premium Article Preview | For full site access: Subscribe Now

Research is hallmark of life sciences

Business First - by Matt Chandler

Date: Friday, February 18, 2011, 6:00am EST

With the doom and gloom often reported about Buffalo, few people outside of downtown know that the city boasts one of the most vibrant, cutting-edge medical research corridors in the country.

With teams of researchers working here to develop drugs and devices that literally save lives and have the potential to change medicine as we know it, Buffalo is a leader in research and development.

Along with that comes a host of patents as inventors fight to protect their intellectual property, in which so much time and money has been invested before it even arrives at market.

Robert Genco is ...