

News

By Agence France-Presse, Updated: 10/19/2010

Men with prostate cancer at higher colon cancer risk: study

Men who have prostate cancer have a higher risk of developing colon cancer than men who don't have prostate cancer, US researchers said Tuesday.

Men with prostate cancer at higher colon cancer risk: study

Researchers at the University at Buffalo (UB) in New York state found in a study of more than 2,000 men that patients diagnosed with prostate cancer had significantly more abnormal colon polyps, known as adenomas, and advanced adenomas than men without prostate cancer.

Most colon cancers begin as adenomas, the researchers said as they presented the findings of their study at the annual meeting of the American College of Gastroenterology in San Antonio, Texas.

"Our study is the first to show that men with prostate cancer are at increased risk of developing colon cancer," said report author Ognian Pomakov, an assistant professor at UB's department of medicine.

Prostate cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in American men, behind only lung cancer.

Colorectal cancer is the third most common cancer diagnosed in men and women in the United States.

The researchers reviewed the patient records, colonoscopy reports and pathology reports, as well as data on the prevalence of adenomas, advanced adenomas, cancerous adenomas and their location within the colon, in 2,011 men who had colonoscopies at the Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Buffalo.

When the researchers compared the colonoscopy results from 188 men diagnosed with prostate cancer with the rest of the patients, they found that the prostate cancer patients had significantly higher prevalence of abnormal polyps and advanced adenomas compared to the rest of the study sample.

Forty-eight percent of prostate cancer patients had adenomas, compared to 30.8 percent of the men without prostate cancer. More than 15 percent of prostate cancer patients had advanced adenomas compared to 10 percent of the men without prostate cancer.

Pomakov stressed the importance of men who have been diagnosed with prostate cancer having routine screening for colon cancer and called for larger studies to be done to determine if screening for colorectal cancer should begin earlier for prostate cancer patients than the currently recommended age of 50.

Forbes Features

World's Weirdest Diets

During a summer of skimpy bathing suits and bare sundresses, many women are thinking about one number. It's not the number of diapers they need to cart to the Hamptons or the balance of their bank accounts. This season most women will be obsessing about their weight. And it seems they will try anything to drop the pounds.

What This Chinese Hacker Could Teach Apple

The World's Most Fabulous, Most Affordable Wedding Gowns

Celebrity Gossip

Naomi Watts' video nasties

Naomi Watts was made to watch videos of "people being killed in the most gruesome ways" as part of her training to play a spy in her latest film.

Reluctant heartthrob Jon Bon Jovi

Rihanna ruins clothes

Lifestyle News

Seoul schools ban corporal punishment

A ban on corporal punishment went into force in all schools in Seoul on Monday, South Korean officials said, despite protests from some teachers who fear the move will encourage indiscipline.

China starts counting its huge population

Clinton visit raises hopes for embattled Pacific women

Malaysians win global Internet popularity contest

Flamenco fever lures Spanish dancers to Asia

Maldives requests privacy for abuse victims

First luxury hotel to open in Ramallah

Italian jackpot record of 177.7 mln euros picked up

American teen crowned Miss World 2010

Maldives apologises to couple over 'hate' wedding ceremony

Miss World contest begins in China

37 Christians killed in Iraq church hostage drama

View more MSN videos

Celebrity Style

Designer mother Roksanda Ilincic

Roksanda Ilincic thinks being a mother has made her a better designer because she has even more determination to succeed.

Proenza Schouler fan Kate Bosworth

Leighton Meester likes messy hair

Kate Moss' Dior role

Kim Kardashian likes natural look

Amanda Seyfried's beauty deal

Top Stories

---

Priests among 46 Christians killed in Iraq

Grieving Catholics in Baghdad marked All Saints Day in mourning for 46 Christians killed in a US and Iraqi assault to free worshippers taken hostage at a cathedral by Al-Qaeda gunmen.

Golf's new No. 1 Westwood still wary of Woods

UK's BG to spend \$15 bln on Australian gas deal

UK's BG to spend 15 bln dlrs on Australian LNG deal

Hong Kong firms in 9 bln dlr UK power supply deal

Saudi militant top suspect in parcel bomb plot

Health News

---

Plague came from China: scientists

The first outbreak of plague occurred in China more than 2,600 years ago before reaching Europe via Central Asia's "Silk Road" trade route, according to a study of the disease's DNA signature.

Cell-destroying protein to boost cancer fight: scientists

Alcohol more harmful than heroin, crack cocaine: study

Pot shot: California to vote on legalizing marijuana

US approves Novartis brain tumour drug

Haiti cholera death toll grows by 7 to 337