The Trump and the Law Speaker Series seeks to create a space for discussion, inquiry, and action as we enter new and ever more turbulent legal and political waters. To that end, we are hosting a series of speakers who will engage in public discussions of the policies and politics of the current administration. The talks are organized around particular policy or legal issues and bring to campus distinguished scholars, lawyers, and others engaged with the issues of the day. We hope that the series, collectively, will represent many different approaches to the current legal and political moment.

Series Organizers:

JONATHAN MANES

Assistant Clinical Professor, UB School of Law
Director, Civil Liberties and Transparency Clinic

MATEO TAUSSIG-RUBBO

Professor, UB School of Law

University at Buffalo
The Baldy Center
for Law & Social Policy
School of Law

All lectures are held on UB North Campus.
