

Cosmopolitanism vs. Globalization

508 O'Brian Hall

October 23, Monday

- 10:15am-11:30am Sergey Dolgopolski (Department of Jewish Thought, UB)
Battle for Earth: Is Husserl's 1934 Response to Heidegger still Sufficient?
- 11:30am-12:45pm Deborah Reed-Danahay (Department of Anthropology, UB)
The EU, Brexit, and Bourdieu's Concept of Social Space
- 2:30pm - 3:45pm Joseph Conte (English, UB)
Transversal Cosmopolitanism and the Global Novel
- 3:45pm - 5:00pm Luca Scuccimarra (Department of Political Science, University of Rome - La Sapienza)
Cosmopolitanism and Military Intervention: On the 'Human Turn' of Global Politics

October 24, Tuesday

- 10:15am-11:30am Richard A. Cohen (Department of Jewish Thought, UB)
Nobility, Facelessness, Sacrifice
- 11:30am-12:45pm Tito Marci (Department of Political Science, University of Rome - La Sapienza)
Ethics of Hospitality within the Limits of Cosmopolitan Rights

Everyone Welcome!

This event is free and open to the general public. More information can be found at: jewishthought.buffalo.edu
Sponsored by Humanities Institute, Department of Jewish Thought, Office of International Education and Baldy Center