

Mentor-Protégé Mentoring Workshop Series

The goals of the Mentor-Protégé Mentoring Workshop Series are to build strong mentor-protégé relationships and enhance mentoring skills. This series is designed specifically for scientists engaged in clinical and translational research or other related medical fields to provide mentor-protégé pairs with the skills required to reach increased levels of career development and satisfaction.

This workshop series will be delivered as five 1-hour workshops via Zoom during the fall semester. An online platform will also be used to share resources and experiences.

WHO CAN APPLY? The workshop is designed for mentor-protégé pairs. It is open to junior scientists or senior scholars/fellows and their primary mentors. A CTSI Mentoring Certificate will be issued to participants who attend all workshops. The deadline to apply for this workshop series is September 6. Selected participants will be notified by September 8.
