About this Job

In partnership with UB Career Services, the Hunter James Kelly Research Institute (HJKRI) has an exciting internship available for UB students interested in assisting in the management of our organization's IT systems. We seek a highly motivated student to help maintain and enhance our website and assist with other IT issues.
NOTE: We would like someone ideally to commit for at least 2 or more semesters, including Summer, if possible.

The HJRKI is a unique research institute which aims to study myelin formation and repair, with the goal of translating this research into prognostic, diagnostic and treatment applications in cooperation with the University at Buffalo's Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences and Hunter's Hope Foundation.

See our website: http://www.buffalo.edu/hunter-james-kelly-research-institute.html (http://www.buffalo.edu/hunter-james-kelly-research-institute.html)
The ideal student will possess the following knowledge and skills:

- Variety of IT skills
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills
- Analytical skills
- Organizational skills with strong attention to detail
- Ability to manage projects
- Pursuing Bachelor's in Computer Science, Business or related field
