

Sri Laxmi Veerapaneni
Institute for Myelin and Glia Exploration
MS Neuroscience student, Feltri Lab

Sri received her BS in Psychology from Brokenshire College of Arts and Science, and MD from Davao Medical School Foundation, Philippines in 2021.

After graduating, she began her graduate studies in Neuroscience at SUNY, University at Buffalo in 2021. She started her thesis work in the Feltri laboratory from November 2021.

She is currently studying the role of Transcription Factor EB in Peripheral Myelination. She also volunteers as a member of the Student Wellness Advisory Group of University at Buffalo.