Change is coming

Aug 31, 2010 at 3:12 AM Post a comment

Well well, change is coming. The Obama administration had a chance to improve the lives of Americans, but he did not. At some point, the Obama administration must step up to the plate and take responsibility for our current mess. He can only blame Bush for awhile.

A University at Buffalo political scientist with a sterling record of prognosticating presidential elections is predicting that Democratic House Speaker Nancy Pelosi will turn over her gavel to the GOP come January.

The presiding Democrats stand to lose about 51 seats in November, says James E. Campbell, professor of political science at UB. His prediction stems from a crystal ball filled with scientific equations based on polling and current events, all pointing to a stunning reversal of fortune for Democrats, who took over the House in 2006.
