Preamble

University disciplinary processes take appropriate action when student conduct directly and/or significantly interferes with the University's primary educational responsibility of insuring all members of its community the opportunity to attain their educational objectives in consonance with the institution's mandate. These regulations governing student behavior have been formulated to be reasonable and realistic for all students.

When a student has been apprehended for the violation of the community's law, the state, or nation, it is the University's position not to request or agree to special consideration for the student because of his or her student status. It should be understood that the University is not a law enforcement agency. At the same time, the University does not conceive of itself as a "sanctuary" for law breakers. The University has always been and should continue to be concerned that whenever students are involved in legal problems they be adequately advised and represented by qualified counsel.

A university, especially a State University subject to constitutional requirements, must guarantee students the rights which the society and its laws protect. An American university guarantees its students these rights on campus.

Students who violate a local ordinance, or any law, risk the legal penalties prescribed by civil authorities. However, violation of law for which the student pays the penalty will not necessarily involve a violation of academic standards or rules of the University. The University cannot be held responsible for off-campus activities of its individual students but maintains an interest in all behavior, whether on or off-campus, which may adversely affect the University. In cases involving violations of the law which occur off campus, the University may be concerned with the incidents which, by their nature adversely affect the University's educational mission.

In any University disciplinary procedure one of the highest priorities of the University is to safeguard the student's right to Due Process. Due Process is not an evasive legal concept but rather simply requires the rudimentary elements of "fair play" in an administrative proceeding. To this end, all University disciplinary procedures will at least afford the accused student a clear statement of the charges and the nature of the information upon which the charges are based. Secondly, the accused student shall be given the chance to have a fair hearing, and present his or her own position, information and explanation. Lastly, no disciplinary action will be taken unless the charges are substantiated by the preponderance of evidence. Courts have indicated that if these minimal elements of "fair play" are fulfilled, the defendant will have been afforded due process under the law.

All campuses of the State University, including the University at Buffalo, engage in periodic review of their policies to ensure they comply with current applicable case law and other legal mandates. The entire SUNY system operates under the Board of Trustees mandate that: "no student, faculty, or other staff member or authorized visitor shall be subject to any limitation or penalty solely for the expression of his view nor for having assembled with others for such purpose" (8 NYCRR Section 535.4).

In summary, the University expects and asks for its members no greater or no less freedom or liberty than exists for other persons in society. The University's position, therefore, is not to request or agree to special consideration because of the student's status. The University will not interfere with law enforcement and other agencies. As part of its educational mandate, it will be concerned about student rehabilitation and contribution to campus and society now and into the future. - A. University jurisdiction and discipline shall pertain to conduct which occurs on University premises, in / on properties or buildings owned / operated by the University, or off-campus and which adversely affects the University community, including any of its members, and/or the pursuit of its objectives and mission. In addition, illegal conduct off-campus may be adjudicated on campus as a violation of the Student Code of Conduct, and students outside of the United States may be held responsible on campus for violations of the laws of the country where they are visiting/residing.
- B. University regulations and procedures shall determine the composition of judicial bodies and determine which judicial body shall be authorized to hear each case.

1. The Director of Student Conduct and Advocacy shall oversee the development of policies for the administration of the judicial program and procedural rules for the conduct of hearings.
 2. Decisions made by a judicial body shall be final, pending the normal appeal process.

- C. The University Police Officers are appointed under the Education Law and the Criminal Procedure Law. They have the authority to make arrests, and are empowered to enforce these regulations and all applicable laws on campus and on any properties owned, rented, or leased by the University. The University Police Officers have the authority of policemen. Among their powers are the power to execute warrants, the power to stop, identify and interrogate individuals, and the power to issue appearance tickets.

Campus Disciplinary Action

Students referred for violations of the Student Code of Conduct are subject to disciplinary action through the Student Conduct and Advocacy. The Director of Student Conduct and Advocacy will decide on the appropriate judicial body. A student may be referred to the Student-Wide Judiciary (SWJ), or to an administrative hearing. Both the SWJ and the administrative hearing officers act under the discretion of Student Conduct and Advocacy.

- A. Student-Wide Judiciary: The SWJ is comprised of Justices and University Hearing Representatives. Justices are appointed by their respective student governments. University Hearing Representatives are students working for the Student Conduct and Advocacy. Students meet with Hearing Representatives to resolve a referral. Both parties appear before a Justice for a formal review of the agreement, or if no agreement is forthcoming, either party may initiate a group consultation with the Justice. If no agreement is possible, either party may request a hearing panel of Justices. Hearing panels follow specific rules of procedure and the findings of the Justices are final and binding pending the appropriate appeal process. The SWJ Rules of Procedure are available at the following web site:

<http://www.buffalo.edu/studentlife/life-on-campus/community/rules/violations/student-wide-judiciary.html>

Students accused of a violation of the Student Code of Conduct may choose an administrative hearing in place of the SWJ.

- B. Administrative Hearing: The Director of Student Conduct and Advocacy (or designee) selects at least two persons in an administrative capacity at the University to provide a disciplinary hearing opportunity for a current (or former) student with pending campus disciplinary charges. The procedures for administrative hearings are available at the following website:

<https://www.buffalo.edu/studentlife/life-on-campus/community/rules/violations/administrative-hearing>

- C. Bill of Rights for Sexual Misconduct/Violence Against Women Act: UB is committed to ensuring that victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and/or stalking can obtain assistance and redress. University members are encouraged to read the Student's Bill of Rights located at:

robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, manslaughter, and arson, defined as crimes that meet the reporting requirements pursuant to the federal Clery Act established in 20 U.S.C. 1092(f)(1)(F)(i)(I)-(VIII), the University shall make a notation on the transcript of students found responsible after a conduct process that they were “suspended after a finding of responsibility for a code of conduct violation” or “expelled after a finding of responsibility for a code of conduct violation.” The notation will be applied along with the date it was imposed. For the respondent who withdraws from the University while such conduct charges are pending, and declines to complete the disciplinary process, institutions may make a notation on the transcript of such students that they “withdrew with conduct charges pending.” The University may also choose to adjudicate such cases in a student’s absence. A suspended student may petition for the removal of a transcript notation after one (1) year from when the student’s suspension term has ended. Notations for expulsions shall not be removed. A student transcript may be subject to a “disciplinary sanction” notation for other serious violations. Transcript notations shall be removed in the event that the underlying finding is vacated.

12. Such other sanctions as may be approved by the University’s judicial bodies.

- B. Students who receive a permanent transcript notation for suspension or expulsion will not receive academic credit for the semester in which the suspension or expulsion occurred. In addition, students will be liable for all tuition and fees.
- C. Such other sanctions as may be approved by the University's judicial bodies.

ARTICLE 4A: RULES OF THE SUNY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The rules of the SUNY Board of Trustees and the Rules for the Maintenance of Public Order can be found online at: http://www.suny.edu/board_of_trustees/pdf/policies.pdf and http://www.suny.edu/sunypp/documents.cfm?doc_id=351.

ARTICLE 4B: UNIVERSITY STANDARDS

A. Student Responsibility

1. The university is committed to the ideal of flexibility and diversity in the educational experience. Certain regulatory procedures are necessary, however, to ensure that the complex needs of a large student body in search of diverse educational goals are met efficiently and smoothly. As a condition of enrollment, students are responsible for reviewing, understanding, and abiding by the university's regulations, procedures, requirements, and deadlines as described in official publications, including the university's course catalog(s), UB websites, and official university email communications. Asserting a lack of knowledge of university regulations will not be accepted as a basis for an exception to these regulations.

B. Academic Environment

1. Academic Dishonesty: For definitions relating to academic integrity, see the following locations: <https://catalog.buffalo.edu/policies/integrity.html> for undergraduates and <https://grad.buffalo.edu/succeed/current-students/policy-library.html> for graduate students. For recent updates to academic policies, go to: <https://www.buffalo.edu/educationalaffairs.html>.

2. Academic Freedom: The University supports the principle of academic freedom as a concept intrinsic to the achievement of its institutional goals. This principle implies a trust in the integrity and responsibility of the members of the academic community. Samuel P. Capen, former Chancellor of the University of Buffalo, who is remembered for the tradition of academic freedom he implemented during his leadership of the University, said in 1935:

"Acceptance by an institution of the principles of academic freedom implies that teachers in that institution are free to investigate any subject, no matter how much it may be hedged about by taboos; that they are free to make known the results of their investigation and their reflection by word of mouth or in writing, before their classes or elsewhere; that they are free as citizens to take part in any public controversy outside the institution; that no repressive measures, direct or indirect, will be applied to them no matter how unpopular they may become through opposing powerful interests or jostling established prejudices, and no matter how mistaken they may appear to be in the eyes of members and friends of the institution; that their continuance in office will be in all instances governed by the prevailing rules of tenure and that their academic advancement will be dependent on their scientific competence and will be in no way affected by the popularity or unpopularity of their opinions or utterances; that students in the institution are free, insofar as the requirements of the several curricula permit, to inquire into any subject that interests them, to organize discussion groups or study clubs for the consideration of any subject, and to invite to address them any speaker they may choose; that censorship of student publications shall be based on precisely the same grounds and shall extend no further than that exercised by the United States Postal Authorities."

3. Medical Excuses: The UB Student Wellness Team (Health Services, Counseling Services, and Health Promotion) will not issue notes or excuses on a routine basis. To do so creates an undesirable climate for health care and disempowers students. Responsibility for class attendance and for completing assignments rests primarily with the student, who assumes this responsibility by communicating directly with faculty. Health Services and Counseling Services will, with the authorization of the student, verify the nature and extent of illness if the faculty member wishes to call. The UB Student Wellness Team can be reached at the following web site:

<https://www.buffalo.edu/studentlife/who-we-are/departments/wellness.html>.

4. Nondiscrimination: The University at Buffalo is committed to fostering a positive environment for learning, and to ensuring the safety, rights, and dignity of every member of the University community. To that end the University encourages each and every member of the academic community to assume individual responsibility for respecting the rights and dignity of others and for helping to promote the free and open exchange of ideas in an atmosphere of mutual respect.

Certain types of discrimination are prohibited by law. For example, discrimination on the basis of race is expressly prohibited by both federal and state constitutions and by a wide range of federal and state statutes. Other state and federal laws prohibit particular forms of discrimination based on such factors as sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, or veteran status. Furthermore, Governor's Executive Order No. 28.1 prohibits discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation in employment and provision of services by state agencies. Students should be aware that anyone who violates laws prohibiting specific forms of discrimination maybe subject to criminal prosecution or civil penalties. Harassment of any student, employee, or guest based upon any of these factors is prohibited by both law and University policy, and is subject to disciplinary action.

The State University Trustees have adopted a policy (Trustee's Resolution 83-216) which directs that judgments about and actions toward students and employees within the SUNY system be based on their qualifications, abilities and performance. The Trustee's policy goes on to say that attitudes, practices, and preferences of individuals that are essentially personal in nature, such as private expression or sexual orientation, are unrelated to performance and provide no basis for judgment.

Finally, it is the policy of the University at Buffalo to prohibit invidious categorical discrimination based on such characteristics as race, sex, sexual orientation, age, national origin, religion, veteran or marital status or disability in all matters affecting employment or educational opportunities within the University itself. It is the firm belief of the Council, the faculty, and the administration that judgments about persons within the University should be based on their individual merits, accomplishments, aptitudes, and behavior, and that invidious categorical discrimination is wholly inappropriate to the University's mission and values. Students who violate this policy shall be subject to sanctions within the University, up to and including expulsion. Any violation of the rules which is motivated by bias may be prosecuted and/or sanctioned as a more serious offense.

Complaints regarding any violations of nondiscrimination laws or policies, including sexual harassment or failure to provide reasonable accommodation should be made to the Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion, (716) 645-2266.

Students are encouraged to read through each policy carefully, as they contain specific information including but not limited to reporting procedures, resources and student rights.

1. Sexual Violence Response Policy:

The University's administrative hearing procedures for Title IX/sexual misconduct can be found at the following web site: <https://www.buffalo.edu/studentlife/life-on-campus/community/rules/violations/administrative-hearing.html>.

5. Good Samaritan Policy:

The health and safety of every student at the State University of New York and its State-operated and community colleges is of utmost importance. The University at Buffalo recognizes that students who have been drinking and/or using drugs (whether such use is voluntary or involuntary) at the time that violence, including but not limited to domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual assault occurs may be hesitant to report such incidents due to fear of potential consequences for their own conduct. The University at Buffalo strongly encourages students to report incidents of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual assault to institution officials. A bystander acting in good faith or a reporting individual acting in good faith that discloses any incident of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual assault to University at Buffalo officials or law enforcement will not be subject to the University at Buffalo's code of conduct action for violations of alcohol and/or drug use policies occurring at or near the time of the commission of the domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual assault.

Further information regarding the Good Samaritan Policy can be found at this link: <http://www.buffalo.edu/studentlife/life-on-campus/safety/good-samaritan-policy.html>.

6. Definition of Affirmative Consent:

Affirmative consent is a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create clear permission regarding willingness to engage in the sexual activity. Silence or lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. The definition of consent does not vary based upon a participant's sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

- Consent to any sexual act or prior consensual sexual activity between or with any party does not necessarily constitute consent to any other sexual act.
- Consent is required regardless of whether the person initiating the act is under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol
- Consent may be initially given but withdrawn at any time.
- Consent cannot be given when a person is incapacitated, which occurs when an individual lacks the ability to knowingly choose to participate in sexual activity. Incapacitation may be caused by the lack of consciousness or being asleep, being involuntarily restrained, or if an individual otherwise cannot consent. Depending on the degree of intoxication, someone who is under the influence of alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicants may be incapacitated and therefore unable to consent.
- Consent cannot be given when it is the result of any coercion, intimidation, force, or threat of harm.
- When consent is withdrawn or can no longer be given, sexual activity must stop.

7. Information on Security Procedures:

The campus community is advised and updated on safety and security through a variety of methods. These include publication of the Annual Security report, which focuses on crime awareness and personal safety. The report is printed annually and can be found at the following website:

<http://www.buffalo.edu/police/reporting/see-a-report/annual-report.html>.

In addition, the University Police Department widely distributes other publications on security issues, including Safety Awareness, Preventing Acquaintance Rape, and Public Safety. Notification is also made to the campus community, as appropriate, on specific threats to campus safety through campus media, publications, posters, and other methods.

- B. Bias Crimes Prevention Compliance Statement: It is a University at Buffalo Police mandate to protect all members of the University community by preventing and prosecuting bias or hate crimes that occur within the campus's jurisdiction.

Perpetrators who are students will be subject to campus disciplinary procedures where sanctions including dismissal are possible.

In addition to preventing and prosecuting hate/bias crimes, the University Police assist in addressing bias-related activities that do not rise to the level of a crime. These activities, referred to as bias incidents and defined by the University as acts of bigotry, harassment, or intimidation directed at a member or group within the University at Buffalo community based on race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, gender, pregnancy, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, predisposing genetic characteristics, marital status, familial status, veteran status, military status, domestic violence victim status, or ex-offender status, may be addressed through the University's Discrimination and Harassment Policy or the campus conduct code. Bias incidents can be reported to the University Police as well as to the Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion.

Admission and/or participation in requested activities/services may only be denied if there is a direct relationship between one or more of the previous criminal offenses and the requested activities/services, or such admission/participation would pose an unreasonable risk to property or the safety or welfare of specific individuals or the general public. Students who have previously been convicted of a felony are advised that their prior criminal history may impede their ability to complete the requirements of certain academic programs and/or to meet licensure requirements for certain professions. Students with such situation(s) should consult the state's certification board and the program coordinator before submitting an application for admission.

University at Buffalo students who disclose a prior felony conviction are not automatically barred from participation in a covered activity. Students will be reviewed by a standing review committee chaired by the director of the Student Conduct & Advocacy.
